SEE THE PICTURE EVERY FRIDAY
AT THE QUEEN THEATRE

$10,000 FOR 100 WORDS.

"The Million Dollar Mystery" story will run for twenty-two consecutive weeks in this paper. By an arrangement with the Thompson Film Company it has been made possible not only to read the story in this paper, but also to see it each week in the various picture theatres. For the solution of this mystery story $10,000 will be given. CONDITIONS GOVERNING THIS CONTEST.

The prize of $10,000 will be won by the man, woman or child who writes the most acceptable solution of the mystery from which the last two reels of the motion picture drama will be made and the last two chapters of the story written by Harold MacGrath.

Solutions may be sent to the Thompson Film Corporation, either at Chicago or New York, any time up to midnight, Dec. 15. They must bear postmarks not later than that date. The solution which appears in the first appearance of the last nine reels and three weeks after the last chapter is published in this paper, in which to submit solutions. A board of three judges will determine which of the many solutions received is the most acceptable. The judgment of this board will be absolute and final. Nothing of a literary nature will be considered in the contest, nor given any assistance in the selection of the winner of the $10,000 prize. The last two reels, which will give the solution of the mystery, will be presented in the theaters having this feature as soon as the solution is produced. The story corresponding to these motion pictures will appear in the newspapers contemporaneously with the picture. The solution of the mystery is practical. With the last two reels will be shown the picture of the solution of the mystery, and other interesting features. It is understood that the newspapers, as far as practical, will print the last two chapters of the story by Harold MacGrath, will also show a picture of the solution of the mystery.

Solutions to the mystery must not be more than 100 words long. Here are some questions to be kept in mind in connection with the mystery as an aid to a solution:

No. 1—What becomes of the million?

No. 2—What becomes of the $10,000?

No. 3—Whom does Florence marry?

No. 4—What becomes of the Russian countess?

Nobody connected either directly or indirectly with "The Million Dollar Mystery" will be considered as a contestant.

RECAPS OF PREVIOUS CHAPTERS.

Stanley Hargrave, millionaire, after a miraculous escape from the den of the gangster, brilliant thief, who had been the Black Hundred, lives the life of a recluse for eighteen years. Hargrave one night mysteriously leaves the city and there comes face to face with the gangster leader, Braine.

Braine, during which neither man apparently recognizes the other, Hargrave hurries to his magnificent home and lays plans for making his escape from the city. He writes a letter to the girls' school in New Jersey where eighteen years before he had mysteriously left. The letter is delivered to Florence Gray. He also pays a visit to the hangar of the Black Hundred, where he is surrounded by the gangster's henchmen. Hargrave enters the house and watches outside see a balloon leave the roof. He is found empty—the million which Hargrave was known to have drawn that day, gone. Then some one announced the balloon had been punctured and dropped to the bottom of the sea.

Florence arises from the girls' school. Princess Olga, Braine's companion, visits and claims to be a relative. Two boys, who are detectives, follow her. She is followed by Norton, a newspaper man.

By bribing the captain of the Orient Norton lays a trap for Braine and his gang. Princess Olga also visits and is captured by one of Braine's men along the roadside. Norton rescues her. They are pursued, however, and the girl and her complete escape only after Norton has exploded a mine on the fast approaching machine with a bullet.

After failing in their first attempt, the Black Hundred trap Florence. They seek her for money, but she escapes, again, fleeing them.

Norton and the countess come on the next day, once more safe at home. The visitors having gone, Jones removes a section of the flooring, and from a cavity takes a box. Pursued by members of the Black Hundred who have been watching his movements, he rushes to the water front and a thrilling race in motor boat ensues. Jones drops the box into the sea and with his automobile sets free the gangster's boat.

Braine conceives the idea of giving a coaching party to which Florence is invited. Jones and Norton both go along and are fortunately on hand to save Florence from being imprisoned in the country house to which she is lured.

Florence goes to the picture show and is captured by one of Braine's men along the roadside. Norton rescues her. They are pursued, however, and the girl and her complete escape only after Norton has exploded a mine on the fast approaching machine with a bullet.

"You see, I'm not liar enough to say that I'm not worried. I am, devilishly worried. I'm not worth any ransom. I'm in the way, and they seem determined to put me out of it."

GET RID OF HUMORS AND AVOID DISEASE

Humors in the blood cause internal derangements that affect the whole system, as well as pimples, boils and other eruptions. They affect all the organs and functions, membranes and tissues, and are directly responsible for the readiness with which some people contract disease.

For forty years Hood's Sarsaparilla has been more successful than any other medicine in expelling humors and removing their inward and outward effects. It is distinguished for its thoroughness in purifying the blood, which it enriches and invigorates. No other medicine acts like it, for no other medicine is like it.

Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Insist on having Hood's.

"To any other man I would say travel. But to you I say when you leave your rooms don't go where you first thought you would—that is, some usual haunt. They'll be everywhere, near your restaurants, your clubs, your office. You're a methodical young man; become erratic. Keep away from here for at least three days, but always call me up by telephone some time during the day. Never under any circumstance, unless I send for you, come here at night. Only one man now watches the house during the day, but five are prowling around after dark. They might have instructions to shoot you on sight. I can't spare you just at present, Mr. Norton. You've been a godsend; and if it seems that sometimes I did not trust you fully it was because I did not care to drag you in too deep."

Deep? Norton thought of Florence and smiled inwardly. Could anybody be in deeper than he was? Once it was on the tip of his tongue to confess his love for Florence, but the gravity of Jones' countenance was an obstacle to such move; it did not invite it.

To be sure, Jones had no real authority to say what Florence should or should not do with her heart. Still, from all points of view, it was better to keep the affair under the rose till there came a more propitious hour in which to make the disclosure.

Love, in the midst of all these alarms, sharp, desperate rogues on one side, millions on the other, and yet love could enter the scene serenely like an actor who had missed his cue and came on too soon.

Oddly enough, there was no real love-making such as you often read about. A pressure of the hand, a glance from the eye, there was something more. Only once—that memorable day on the river road—had he kissed her. No word of love had been spoken on either side. In that wild moment all conventionalities had disappeared like smoke in the wind. There had been neither part nor future, only the present in which they knew that they loved. With her he was happy for he had no time to plan over the future. Away from her he saw the inevitable barriers providing against the marriage between a poor young man and a very rich young woman. A man who has any respect wants always to be on equal terms with his wife, financially more than in any other thing. It's the way this peculiar organization called Society has written down its rules. Doubtless a relic of the stone age, when a man went out with his club to seek a wife and drag her by the hair to his den, and there to care for her an dog guard her with his life's blood. It is one of the few primitive sensibilities that remain to us, this wanting the female dependent upon the male. Perhaps this accounts for man's lack of interest on the subject of matrimony.

Only Susan suspected the true state of affairs, being a woman. Having had no real romance herself, she delighted in having a second hand one, as you might say. She intercepted many a glance and pretended not to see the stolen hand pressures. The wedding was already full drawn in her mind's eye. These two young people should be married at St. Ann's church, where the roses were climbing up the side of the house and the four robins were boldly trying their fancy wings. It struck her as rather strange, by she could not conjure up (at this wedding more than two men besides the minister, the bridegroom, and the butler.

By forsaking his accustomed haunts, under the advice of Jones, the hidden warfare ceased temporarily. You can't very well kill a man when you don't know where to find him. He ate his breakfast haphazardly, now here, now there. He received most of his assignments by telephone and wrote his stories and articles in his club, in the writing rooms of hotels, and invariably dispatched them to the office by messenger. The managing editor wanted to know what all this meant; but Norton declined to tell him.
